The Time of Problems

The Time of Problems
Now is the beginning,
The beginning of the difficult time.
That is the time of the problems,
The time of the first love.
The time of problems with parents
The time of problems with teacher,
and it's the time of problems with yourself.

You are not longer a child,
But you are not yet an adult.
You want to make your own rules,
But your parents treat you like a child.

Sometimes you want to be like a child,
Than all say that you are to old for this.
Sometimes you want to be like an adult,
Than all say that you are to young for this.

Sometimes you hate yourself
And all the world around you,
And sometimes you are very happy
and love all the world.
Sometimes you cry
And you don't know why.
Sometimes you laugh
And you don't know why.
Suddenly you're interested in peoples of the other sex.
Suddenly you're interested in your beauty.
That is the time of problems,
Now you will be an adult.
