

Scenarios

K-Pop Scenarios

Von _Raion_

Kapitel 10: When you're at a shop and want to buy something that's the last one, but he wants it too

TOP:

You looked at the little toy in your hand that you have found and wanted to buy. It was just so cute. All of a sudden you here someone shout. "Oh shit!" When you looked at the person, a tall guy was covering his mouth because of his words. He ran to you and pointed at the little toy in your hand. "Please let me buy it. It's the last one. I'm looking for it for so long. I will give you the double of the money." Even you thought that the doll was very cute, the guy was much more cute and you made a deal with him. He could buy the doll if he went on a date with you. Of course, he couldn't say no.

G-Dragon:

There were this amazing shoes that had lead you into the shop. Even they were one size to big, you wanted to buy it. That were definitely the hottest sneakers you have ever seen. You wanted to grab them but someone was faster than you. "Hey. I wanted to take them." You told the person and a fashionable guy looked down on you. "There are so many others, just buy them." He told you, but you just wanted this pair. "Why don't you just buy a other pair?"

You two discussed about an hour about the shoes because both of you wanted to buy it so badly. In the end you two came to the decision to make it fair and no one bought it.

Daesung:

After you got your new phone, you bought a new case and now you wanted to buy a charm. In a little shop in Hongdae you found what you were searching for. You started to walk to the rack with the charms but someone was there first and took the charm you wanted so badly. "I...wanted to buy this." You murmured to yourself and the guy looked at you. "Uh." He looked at the charm in his hand and then to the other charms on the rack. "This one is the cutest right? You just want this one?" You nodded at his question. "Then I will buy it." What? How mean. You decided to buy a other charm, but were still sad because the other one was way much more cut. When you walked out of the shop, the guy was standing in front of it. Angry, you walked pass him. "Wait." He run after you. "What?" You asked still angry. "Here!" He showed you the charm you wanted so badly. "I bought this for you." You were surprised about his words. "For me?" He nodded.

Taeyang:

Chapagetti were definitely the best ramen you had ever eaten. No wonder there was only one last left. But sadly a guy already had it in his hand. Maybe he noticed your stare and smiled at you. "You know me?" He asked. "Know you?" "You don't? I thought because you were looking at me." You pointed at the ramen in his hand. "I was looking at that." "Oh." He seemed disappointed and gave you the ramen. "You can have it." When you continued looking at the store what you wanted to buy, you noticed that he was watching you the whole time.

Seungri:

You grabbed the red purse but someone else grabbed it at the same time. "I was first." You two said synchronous and looked in each others eyes. "I need this for tonight." You're telling the guy. "And I wanna buy it for my sister." He answered. "For your sister?" You asked again. He nodded and you sighted. You didn't really wanted to give him the purse, but it was a present for his sister. "Wait." He stopped you. "What about this? I will give you the purse and you will give me your phone number?" Oo