Kapitel 9:

The last month was really something, Katsuki was so nervous all the time. Even the preparation courses didn't help much.

Izuku and Eijiro tried to calm him down, but sometimes it was a Devil's spiral. He had a freak out because he thought of more and more bad things that could happen to him or the baby.

Eijiro purred at him to soothe him, but it didn't really help. They tried some easy activities, like a last minute photo shooting to document the end of their pregnancy, but it only held for the moment. As soon as they were done it started again.

He was in a constant state of dread, when one or even worse, both of his mates weren't with him. Even if one of them only went to the toilet or something trivial. Katsuki was especially panicky when Izuku went to work. He was so scared that something bad would happen to him.

Eijiro cuddled him all the time and tried to reassure him, that everything was going to be okay. Every time Eijiro had to go to the toilet, Inko had to come and stay with Katsuki. The omega himself was incredibly irritated by his own anxiety. Why was he so stressed out?

The Bakugo's and Kirishima's visited one day, Izuku was at work – unfortunately – and his mother asked, why Katsuki was so stressed out.

He said that he didn't know, he was like that for some weeks now. "Huh, reminds me of myself when I was pregnant with you" Mitsuki said.

"W-what do you mean?" the omega asked.

"Well, alpha females aren't as fertile and we tried quite some time to conceive a child. And when I finally got pregnant I was in constant fear that I would lose you." She said.

"Oh ..." Katsuki looked at his mother with wide eyes, he hadn't known that.

"But I assure you, everything will be okay." She smiled at him.

"Yes, your mother is right, everything will be okay" Yukari encouraged him.

Masaru and Arashi agreed to that. Mitsuki stroked through Katsuki's hair.

Katsuki felt a little bit better after that, the fear was still there, but it became a little less.

Izuku, Katsuki and Eijiro were grocery shopping at the moment, they were about two weeks away from their due date. That meant they were unmistakably heavily pregnant by now.

They waddled through the shop, and Katsuki was pushing a shopping cart. He was looking at some products on the shelf, when a woman grabbed his arm. "Excuse me, where can I find –" but Katsuki cut her off.

"Hey, don't touch me!" he ripped his arm out of her grip and stepped back hastily.

"Excuse me? That is so rude! You need to tell me where I can find this tea brand here!" she pulled out an empty package.

"I don't fucking know where to get that, ask an employee!" Katsuki hissed.

"That's what I am doing! How can you be so rude?" The omega women answered in a snarky voice.

"I am not a damn employee here!"

"Don't you dare lie to me!" The woman snapped at him.

"I don't work here, lady! And if you haven't noticed, I am nine months pregnant! What makes you think I work here?" He growled. He felt anxiety rising up in him. He didn't know where Eijiro or Izuku were.

"This is so fucking rude! Where's your manager! I will get you fired!" She marched towards him.

"I fucking told you, I don't work here! Now leave me alone, you're scaring me!" he covered his belly with his hands.

"I can't believe, how rude you are!" she came closer.

Suddenly there was a bloodcurdling growl to be heard. The woman immediately stepped back. She looked in shock at someone behind Katsuki. The omega turned around and looked at Izuku. He looked absolutely mad. Behind him was Eijiro, he immediately went towards him and hugged him. Eijiro rubbed over Katsuki's back.

"Leave my mate alone. Do you not see that he is clearly not an employee here? Are you that dumb, not to recognize that he doesn't work here?" Izuku growled.

"Oh my god, you don't have to be so rude about it!" She hissed.

"I am rude? I am only trying to protect my mate. You scared him!" he growled, he bared his teeth.

"How dare you threaten me? I want to speak to a manager! This is unbelievable!" She hissed.

"What is going on here?" Another voice echoed through the aisle. It was the manager of the store.

"Finally you show up." The woman turned to the manager, another alpha. "Your employee is useless and this person is rude! Fire him and kick them out of the store!" She demanded.

The manager looked at Izuku, Eijiro and Katsuki and he furrowed his eyebrows. "Employee?" he asked.

"Yes, the blonde one" She gestured.

"I don't work here!" Katsuki said again.

"Don't you lie to me!" she hissed.

"But he's not lying. He doesn't work here! Besides, he is highly pregnant, even if he would work here, he would be on maternity leave by now." The manager explained.

"What? But I saw him stocking shelves!" She insisted.

"You need glasses, lady, I was just looking at something." Katsuki growled.

"I'd appreciate it, if you don't upset my mate any longer" Izuku said. He wasn't happy at all.

"Don't speak in that tone to me!" She replied with a snarky voice.

"Ma'am, please stop bothering other customers." The manager tried to calm her down.

"I will not! He threatened me!" She pointed at Izuku.

"I just wanted to protect my mate" Izuku growled.

"Sir, I'll take care of her, you can continue your shopping, I'll make sure to tell the cashiers to give you a coupon for the inconvenience" the manager said, while he tried to direct the woman in a different direction, before they could answer he had turned around and his attention was on this woman.

"We should go, before she rips his head off" Eijiro mumbled.

"Definitely!" Izuku hugged Katsuki tight and they continued.

They were out of the store, the moment the police arrived. They stayed to watch how the woman was dragged out. Katsuki watched in joy when this happened.

They were home again and Katsuki lay down in the nest, he felt exhausted. Eijiro stayed with him, Izuku had to prepare for work.

Eijiro was lying on his back, but his legs were over the edge of the nest. Katsuki was in between them he was working Eijiro off, the redhead purred, it felt so damn good. "You're so damn good at this, Katsuki" Eijiro praised him, his hands grabbed the sheets. He had to hold onto himself to not moan out loud, he knew Inko was somewhere in the house.

When Katsuki was done, he climbed back into the nest, he trailed over the belly and he leaned over to kiss Eijiro. But suddenly, Eijiro shot up and he groaned in pain. He clutched his stomach and started to breathe fast. "Fuck" he mouthed.

"What's wrong?" Katsuki was concerned.

"I don't know ... it just hurts ..." Eijiro furrowed his brows. "Huh, maybe the baby is coming earlier? Maybe contractions?" he murmured. "But my water did not break yet ... weird."

"Better if we contact the hospital?" Katsuki questioned.

"Hm, I don't know. It's better now. We should be looking out for more, if it happens again, but now it feels okay again." He answered.

Katsuki was still worried. "But you tell me immediately when it starts to hurt, yes?" He looked him deep in the eyes.

"I promise" Eijiro said. He smiled because he didn't want Katsuki to worry. They went to bed after that.

Eijiro got up in the middle of the night, because he had to pee, he grimaced when the pain was suddenly back, this had nothing to do with his pregnancy. He limped to the bathroom, he put a hand on the side where it hurt and he almost screamed, when he touched it, the pain almost exploded. "Damn" he mouthed.

After he was done in the bathroom, he went to the sink to wash his hands, but suddenly he heard a yelp out of the bedroom. He looked to the half closed door and he saw, how Katsuki sat up quickly in bed. "Eijiro? Where are you?!" he sounded panicked.

"Bathroom!" he called out.

The door opened fully, absolute horror was in Katsuki's face. "How are you feeling?" he immediately asked.

Eijiro raised his eyebrows. "I'm fine" he said.

"No, no you're not! I thought about the pain, or dreamt, I don't know, but something is not right! You need to go to the hospital!"

"What?"

"Eijiro! You're as pale as a ghost and you're sweating like hell. I have a really bad feeling about this! Please let's go to the hospital!"

"But it's too early, it has nothing to do with the pregnancy" he said.

"Are you stupid? If it has nothing to do with the pregnancy, then there is something else that's broken! We need to go and check this out!" he grabbed Eijiro's hand and he had the feeling that he was about to burn any minute, it was hot!

"I don't know ..."

"No! We're going to the hospital, right now! If it is nothing that's wonderful, but if there's something they might can do stuff about it" he pulled him out and he grabbed his pre-packed bag.

"Can I put some clothes on before? We're still naked" Eijiro mumbled.

"Oh ... yeah" Katsuki let go and they dressed up. "I'll go, wake up auntie" with that he walked over to Inko's room.

Eijiro waited on the bed, Katsuki was probably right, but he didn't want to cause so much trouble ... Suddenly a massive pain – not labor pains though – shot through his body, tears shot in his eyes and he leaned over. Bile rose up in his throat and he vomited.

More pain shot through him, it was absolutely agonizing. He slid from the bed and on his knees, still vomiting. "Katsuki!" he tried to call out, but his voice wasn't loud enough, it felt like his ears were full of cotton too.

Suddenly Inko and Katsuki were by his side and they tried to talk to him, but he couldn't really hear them over the pain in his body.

It was so much, that he couldn't handle it and everything went black.

Katsuki was in absolute panic when Eijiro passed out. They had called an ambulance, but it took so fucking long. They needed about two minutes to finally arrive.

They acted quickly and put Eijiro on a stretcher, they brought him out and Katsuki was allowed to drive in the ambulance, Inko would come after them in her car. She also tried to contact Izuku.

They made their way back to the hospital, Katsuki was like on hot coals, he was so scared, he had an awful nightmare before in which Eijiro had lost the baby because something was wrong with him. He had those dreams before, he had constantly felt this dread, but this time it was even stronger. It was even heavier now.

They finally arrived and Katsuki followed them inside, they did some check ups, but Katsuki didn't understand what they were talking for the most part. But then they quickly decided Eijiro needed to be operated. Katsuki's heart dropped at this. They rolled him away and this time he couldn't follow.

Inko came now, she was frantic, because she couldn't get a hold of Izuku. He was out on a mission and he had his phone turned off. Katsuki sat on the chair and he pressed himself against Inko, he really wished, Izuku was here!

A few minutes later, the Kirishima's arrived, they looked equally panicked, a nurse tried to calm them down, but it was not very effective.

Katsuki was restless, and the child inside of him, didn't help, it kicked around like crazy, making him even more agitated.

He called some of his friends and informed them, that something was wrong with Eijiro and he asked, if they could get a hold of Izuku. They promised to look for him.

The next few hours, felt so fucking long, Katsuki felt so awful and alone, Eijiro was in danger and Izuku was God knows where. Yukari tried to calm him too, everything would be fine, but the sense of dread lingered still in Katsuki's mind.

About two hours later, finally Izuku arrived, together with Shoto and Momo. Katsuki got up and flew into his arms. "Idiot! Where have you been?!" he cried.

"I'm so, so sorry, I was on a mission. How is he?" Izuku asked.

"We don't know yet, he's in there for a couple of hours now. God, this is my fault, he had pain before! But he chugged it off and I should have been more persistent. We should have gone to the hospital right then and there!"

"Hey, Kacchan, calm down, it's not your fault!" Izuku tried to calm him, he guided Katsuki back to the chairs and they sat down.

"Thank you, Shoto and Momo" Inko said in their direction.

"No problem, Mrs. Midoriya" Shoto said. They all waited now.

About another hour later, finally the doctor came out. Izuku and Katsuki stood up again. "What's with Eijiro, is he okay?" Katsuki asked.

"Yes, he is okay now. He had an appendicitis, a few minutes later, and it would have been much worse." He explained.

"What about the baby?" Izuku asked. Yukari was now next to him.

"We had to make a Caesarean Section to get it out. We tried to just treat the appendicitis but there were complications. But you don't need to worry about the baby, she is perfectly fine and healthy. Mr. Kirishima is still sleeping but feel free to visit him and your daughter."

They all sighed in relief. Katsuki broke out in tears again. Izuku held him. "I'm so relieved" he cried.

They went to Eijiro's room, with him was a nurse who took care of the newborn baby, the little one screamed.

Izuku walked over to the nurse and he carefully took the baby from her. He let out some calming pheromones, it weren't the same as omega pheromones, but the child calmed down quickly. "There you go" Izuku smiled at her and rocked her in his arms.

He carefully turned around and presented her to the others. "Oh my god, she's so cute" Yukari squealed. Izuku gave the girl to her.

"She is" he said proudly.

Katsuki was now sitting next to Eijiro. Finally his baby had stopped it's violent kicking, as if they sensed, that everything was okay now.

Eijiro woke up a couple of hours later. He gasped and his hands immediately wandered to his now flatter stomach. "What? No, no, my baby" he stammered.

"Hey, hey, Eijiro!" Katsuki tried to get his attention. "Your daughter is fine." Eijiro stared at him, not understanding what he said.

"Did I lost it?" he asked.

"No! She's fine! You had an appendicitis and to make sure the baby is save they got her out. She was luckily far enough so she is healthy and all" he winked Izuku closer.

"Here she is." Izuku gave Eijiro the baby, after he sat up a little.

Tears shot into Eijiro's eyes. "I didn't lose her" he cried.

He cradled his child and he felt finally better. He was out even before the operation started, but he had felt that something ripped his baby out, he was so terrified, that it was gone ...

Izuku was next to Eijiro he put an arm around him. "I'm so sorry that I wasn't with you during that time, you must have been terrified."

"I was, it felt so strange. I thought I lost the pup" he started to cry again, he leaned against Izuku. Carefully he moved a little to the side, so Izuku could lay down next to him. Eijiro cuddled up next to him, the newborn pup on his chest.

Izuku let out some soft crooning sounds. Eijiro ran his hand carefully over his daughters head. "She's so small, but so cute!"

"That she is" Izuku observed them and he was super happy that both of them were fine.

Eijiro made a full recovery a few days later. And they could leave the hospital with their newborn baby, Akemi.

She was a very angelic baby, she cried sometimes, but she also calmed down easily, she slept relatively quickly, and didn't make much trouble.

Eijiro took turns with Izuku in getting up at night, to feed her or when she started to scream. Katsuki was still spared for the moment, until his child was born.

He got a little bit impatient now, he wanted it to be over too.

Eijiro felt so much better again, it would take a while to be back at form, but he wasn't in a hurry. He wanted to enjoy his time with the baby first.
